

Vantage Point: role playing game

When you role play, make sure the race, ethnicity or culture is different from yours. Pair up with someone whose race, culture, ethnicity you are representing. Role play as how you think this race, culture or ethnicity act and how they are presented to you. Have your partner do the same as well. After, take turns pointing out stereotypes that may have arised. Also, point out positive things your partner represented about your race, culture, ethnicity or negative things as well.
